

Hendler
Flores Law

Case Type

Life Changing Injuries

General Background

Brain trauma. Loss of a limb. Third-degree burns. These are examples of catastrophic injuries. Tragic life-changing events that will have a lasting impact on you and your loved ones. If the injury was caused by negligent or malicious behavior, holding the responsible parties accountable can bring you peace of mind during this time of crisis.

Although you're probably overwhelmed at this difficult time, we're here to help you explore your legal right to compensation for your injuries. Our goal is to pursue a financial settlement in your case that takes into consideration things such as your:

- Medical expenses (past and future)
- Rehabilitation costs (past & future)
- Lost wages (past & future)
- Reduced earning capacity
- Pain and emotional suffering

Day after day, we take on corporate giants, huge insurance companies, and large organizations on behalf of our clients. By filing a legal complaint with us, you can rest assured that we won't give up until we get the best possible result for you and your loved ones.

Types of Injuries

Clients come to us for legal representation for a range of life-changing injuries including:

Brain Injuries

Severe brain injuries can affect an individual's cognitive function and movement.

Loss of Limb

Infections or severe accidents may result in the loss of limb, often requiring an amputation of the affected limb.

Loss of Hearing or Vision

Vision impairment and hearing loss may impact communication skills and ability to access information.

Severe Burns

External burn injuries range from 1st degree to 6th degree severity, while Internal burns occur when dangerous substances are ingested.

Spinal Cord Injuries

Spinal cord injuries can result from various types of accidents such as vehicle crashes, slips and falls, and violent incidents.