Case Type

Mesothelioma
Asbestos Cancer

General Background

Asbestos exposure is the sole cause of mesothelioma. Even a small amount of asbestos exposure can years later result in mesothelioma cancer. Tragically, many companies knew of its dangers long before they stopped mining it, using it in products, or otherwise taking safety measures to protect employees from workplace exposure to asbestos fibers. Even today, people can be exposed to dangerous levels of asbestos in old buildings and houses, particularly during renovations.

There are two legal options available for mesothelioma victims:

Asbestos Trusts. Some asbestos companies have set aside money in trust funds for mesothelioma victims that do not require them to file a lawsuit. The process of getting compensated through these trusts is difficult to understand, however, so having an experienced lawyer increases your chances of getting a good recovery.

Mesothelioma Lawsuits. In circumstances where there are no trusts, we can represent you in a lawsuit. We have 3 decades of experience helping mesothelioma victims seek compensation from the companies responsible for their exposure to asbestos. We would be honored to help you.

FAQs

Who is eligible for compensation?

Anyone diagnosed with mesothelioma, as well as certain family members.

What if I don't know how I was exposed to asbestos?

Our legal team will research your personal and occupational history to pinpoint potential instances of asbestos exposure.

How long do mesothelioma lawsuits take?

Because every mesothelioma claim is unique, there is no specific timeframe for the length of the claim. Receiving compensation can take several months to several years.
